

BENHAM SPOKE PLAINLY.

THE OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE BETWEEN HIM AND DA GAMA.

The American Admiral Left No Room for Doubt as to How He Would Meet Interference with the Rights of American and American Shipping at Rio-Neu-Neu, which he brought Da Gama to Time.

Rear Admiral A. E. K. Benham, who until April 10 was Admiral commanding the United States naval force on the South Atlantic, yesterday gave the following correspondence, which was issued between him and the Brazilian Admiral Da Gama in the harbor of Rio de Janeiro in January and February:

U. S. FLAGSHIP SAN FRANCISCO, 20 RATE. RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 20, 1894.

SIR: I herewith enclose a copy of a communication received this morning from the master of the American bark Julia Rollins, complaining that while peacefully proceeding to an anchorage near Gomboa she was fired upon from the Brazilian cruiser Bahia and afterward the man-of-war Trajano.

From this action on your part I infer that you have established a blockade over a portion of the city water front. Your right to establish a blockade of the whole or any portion of the harbor of Rio de Janeiro is not questioned, and no such blockade will be regarded as an illegitimate right has not been secured you.

In order to avoid the necessity of my conveying and forcibly protecting American vessels in their movements to any part of the harbor, I trust you will give immediate orders directing the discontinuance of all annoyances of this character, and that American vessels shall not be molested in any manner whatever.

Very respectfully,
A. E. K. BENHAM,
Rear Admiral, United States Navy, commanding United States naval force on South Atlantic station.

To Admiral Saldaña Da Gama, Harbor of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

From the Commander-in-Chief of the naval forces of the revolution against the Government of Marshal Floriano Peixoto in the Port of Rio de Janeiro, on board the cruiser Saldanha, in the Port of Rio de Janeiro, the 25th of January, 1894:

To His Excellency, Admiral A. E. K. Benham, Commander-in-Chief of the United States of North America in the South Atlantic:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the letter which your Excellency directed me to under date of yesterday referring to the incident of the American bark Julia Rollins, which was peacefully proceeding in the light of Gomboa, which was authorized by the fortress of Santa Cruz in the service of Marshal Floriano Peixoto, and which was opposed by the fortress of the island of Cobras, and also by the corvette of war Trajano of the revolutionary forces under my command.

The simple facts of these facts it is seen that it results not from a blockade, partial or general, as your Excellency supposes, but from the simple fact that the American bark Julia Rollins, which was peacefully proceeding in the light of Gomboa, which was authorized by the fortress of Santa Cruz in the service of Marshal Floriano Peixoto, and which was opposed by the fortress of the island of Cobras, and also by the corvette of war Trajano of the revolutionary forces under my command.

THE TARIFF IN THE SENATE.

MURPHY ANNOUNCES HIS INTENTION TO VOTE FOR THE BILL.

A Discussion as to the Present Feeling of the People on the Subject of the Tariff Reform Bill, which will be introduced by the Senate on April 20.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Another question of personal privilege, arising out of the condemnation by the Minnesota Democracy of certain Senators for their supposed position on the Tariff bill, was brought up in the Senate today.

Senator McMillan of Michigan, who had recently been mentioned in this connection, he quoted from a New York evening paper and said:

"I had supposed that every Senator on this floor, every citizen of my State, every representative of a newspaper in the Senate gallery, knew full well that, since the tariff bill has been reported to the Senate, so long as it remained an improvement on the McKinley bill in respect to customs duties, I had announced my intention to support it to the full. I did not suppose that anybody was in doubt about that. The correspondent of the paper in question was early informed in regard to my position and purpose. He admitted to me very recently that he had so advised the publication office in New York. I have no complaint to make against this wanton, deliberate misrepresentation from such a source. Yet I take this occasion to remind that journal that it is far more honorable to tell the truth than to give a false account of the facts."

Three speeches in opposition to the Tariff bill were afterward made by Republican Senators—Gallinger of New Hampshire, McMillan of Michigan, and Dolph of Oregon, the latter leaving his speech unfinished. During the delivery of Mr. Gallinger's speech there was a lively discussion as to the present feeling of the Senate on the subject of tariff reform.

Mr. Gray (Dem., Del.) having referred to the verdict of the people in the election of 1892 in favor of tariff reform, Mr. Gallinger pointed to the recent verdict of the people against the Wilson bill.

Mr. Gray declared that there had been no election since 1892 in which the tariff was an issue.

Mr. Gallinger replied that in the two recent Congress elections in the State of New York the tariff question was the only question at issue, and that in one of them a 10,000 Democratic vote had been won by the tariff reform bill.

DIAMOND WEDDING JEWELS.

BROUGHT BACK TO AMERICA BY MRS. VON GLUMER.

She Was Frances Amelia Bartlett, and Her Wedding to Don Sebastian Santa Cruz de Oviedo, a Cuban, in 1850, and the ceremony was celebrated with such magnificence that it was popularly known as the "diamond wedding."

Some time after the death of Santa Cruz de Oviedo his widow married a rich German named Von Glumer. Mrs. Von Glumer has returned to New York city to live, and the immense collection of diamonds she took with her to Cuba in 1850 has just arrived at the Appraiser's store.

Mrs. Von Glumer did not bring them in as personal effects, and they are dutiable at 10 per cent. Mrs. Von Glumer requested the Collector to carry along the appraisement of the diamonds.

The "diamond wedding" took place on Oct. 1, 1850, in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York street. All the bride's appointments, as well as those of the bridegroom, were furnished by the groom after the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Bartlett's wedding gown cost $10,000. Among her ornaments was a necklace of diamonds, a brooch, a pair of earrings and a ring, all of which were set in diamonds.

The bride's trousseau was valued at $100,000. Among her ornaments was a necklace of diamonds, a brooch, a pair of earrings and a ring, all of which were set in diamonds.
